We commence this morning, the publication of the great speech, recently made by Joseph Holt at Fredrick, Maryland. It is beyond all question the greatest effort of the canvass, and fully equal to the unrivalled reputation of the orator. We hope that every man into whose hands our pa_

Public Speaking.

Wm. D. Reed, Democratic elector, will speak at Franklin, Henry county, on Saturday.

It will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches that the old line Whige of New York cannot stand on the Democratic platform. They seem to think there is "a nigger in the woodpile." The truth is, that most of the old line Whiggery in the free States is a "bad egg," and wont begin to do. Their proper place is with Fillmore or Fremont .- Louisville Times.

It may seem strange to some persons that the Maysville Eagle should wince under our paragraph, but the riddle will be read when it is known that the Eagle had a great tenderness for Emancipation in 1849; and that it has been for the last two years really a Know Nothing paper Devil, in preference to Buchanan.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. The extra session was brought about by the efforts of Jeff. Davis, who declared he could not keep the army together without the appropria-tions. The other members of the Cabinet, it is understood, agreed in the opinion of nearly all the leading Democrats here, that the issue made by the abolitionists, particularly as it was demonstrated this morning that they were in the minority, and only succeeded by caking the ayes and nays until the hour of adjournment, would be of great strength.

Since the issuance of the President's proclama-tion, calling an extra session of Congress, he has received not a few blessings from the Republican members, many of whom were met by it first at the depot, when about leaving for home.

Mr. McMallen said that the South would stand by the constitution. SPEECH OF JOSEPH HOLT.

At Frederick City, Maryland. MR. PRESIDENT-If, in some of the circumstan ces which surround us, there is found no complinent to your principles, " one at least, of which you may well be proud, is reflected from the ight eyes which sparkle in the midst of this assembly. Amid the turmoil of the political e ements, when it sought to array sect against sect and State against, and to call into play the fierce passions which have stained the annals of mankind with crime and filled their habitations with wailings, may we not hope that the fairer portion of our race will lift up their voices in behalf of peace? Women,—for us the connecting link between earth and heaven—has been commissioned as a ministering angel to dispense the consolations of mercy, of humanity and of love, to the aching bosoms of this tempest-tossed world. But if woman herself becomes uncharitable, and joins the battle cry of persecution, the melting notes of the nightingale are to be exchanged for the hoarse scream of the vulture, and those gentle hands which were intended to lead us to paradise, shall seize the weapons of proscription and of war, then indeed, may we lay our faces in the dust, in humiliation and in espair.

The despotisms of the old world enjoy rest save when at remote intervals, the pent-up wrongs of centuries explode in the form of sanguinary insurrections. But from the depths of that tranquility are ever issuing sickening odors, as from an open sepulchre of human hopes and human hearts. The stagnant pool which basks sluggishly in the sun, enjoys also rest but beneath its surface venemous reptiles do gender and batten, while the malaria of pestilence and of death, are exhaled from its waters. The mountain torrent knows no repose, but ever restin the Union, is about to commence a thorough less, it dashes forward and onward, gathering canvass of the State. It is recommended to have new momentum at every bound, and inspiring new joys with every accent of its wild song Action is the law of its being, as it is the elemen of its strength; without it, it loses, at once reshness, its purity, its power, and above all, that rainbow of glory which glitters, as a gar-ment of immortality above its pathway. Sir, that mountain torrent, is the true emblem of the life of a free people. Discussion, excitement, agitation—these are a part of the price you pay, and which all must pay for liberty. Hence that heady strife of party with party, which has so long prevailed throughout the Union, has for us but slight alarm, however much it may excite the fears of transatlantic friends, in those unper may fall will carefully peruse it and ponder happy lands, where every movement of the mass-es carries with it the terrors of the tornado and is marked by devastation and bloodshed. Our republic stands, as stands the brave old oak, which toys with the tempest as the infant with its rattle. Every breeze stirs it outer and tremulous branches; its giant arms may toss wildly to the eddying blasts as they sweep on, but its trunk is unmoved, and those mighty roots which strike deep into the earth, and are the sources, at once of its life and of its greatness, hear not, need not the raging uproar of the sterm above love to believe that our institutions have roots in the great American heart, which none of the passing conflicts of the day, have ever reached. As yet the "Union must be preserved," watchword of every party, and if an opposite sentiment lurks in any disloyal quarter, it shrinks from the light, and is without banner and without organization.

The Hall, which in the progress of the meeting, me densely crowded, was not filled at the opening † I have since been pained to learn that the Black Ro

Twin-born with the federal constitution, was a political party, which has proved its uncom-promising foe, at every period of our national existence. I arraign not that party as lacking in patriotism; it was but the embodiment of lus of power, which, having a deep lodgment in the under the guise of "Old Line Whig." It would human heart, manifests itself in some way, under not astonish us to hear the Eagle proclaim, in the language of Col. Marshall, "Fremont or the shadow, comparatively nerveless and bloodless, ey have sought from the beginning, to invest it with much of the terriffic and all-pervading vigor, and with something too, of the splendors which distinguish European monarchies. With unchanging purpose, but with ever-changing names, they have pursued, what, from its results we feel authorised to call, their warfare upon the Democracy in support of Buchanan and the Constitution of the Union, and as the guar dianship of that instrument is the sublime mis-sion of the Democracy, it has been with that parmond Examiner says: It is authoratively stated ty, that they have had their screet and most pro that the National Intelligencer, the time honored | tracted conflicts. They struggled with them under the elder Adams, in defence of personal free-dom, and the liberty of the press, and against those odious and never-enough-to-be-detested measures, known as the "alien and sedition laws." Later—the name of FEDERALISTS under which that party rallied, having been nipped by the frosts of defeat and fallen as an autumna leaf to the ground-an organization evincing like impatience under the restraints of the Cor stitution, appeared upon the arena as NATIONAL REPUBLICANS, sheltering themselves under that gigantic scheme of ambition—the "American system"-upon which the Democracy seized and finally succeeded in breaking in to pieces beneath their feet. Another wave of the wand of their brilliant leader, and the transmigratory spirit of the habitual opponent of your principles. the bewitching cognomen of Whiss-a patriotic party, but sadly misled, as we believe in their sire and labors for the undue aggrandizement of the general government. Throughout these mutations of name and fortune, the Democracy have had excited and prolonged contests with these organizations, not only upon internal improvements or the "American system," but upon the tariff, with its penchant for monopolies, and upon the sub-treasury; and when the nation, panic-struck and gasping, was wrestling in the folds of the United States Bank, like Maccoon in the crushing coils of the gerpent, the Democracy true to the Constitution and to the States, in that dark hour, stood firm, and after years of stormy combat, consigned to a tomb too deep for resurrection, a monster which had so long played the Aukim in the land, that the commercia and political classes had come to regard then selves as truly but grasshoppers in its sight.— Over the length and breadth of this extended field of conflict, strewed as it is with the frag ments of creeds and systems and parties. Democratic banner, now floats in undis victory. I speak this in no exultant mood, but rather in re'oicing and thankfulness, that these disturbing questions have at last been settled upon the grounds and by majorities which prom-ise repose for the future. But the mission of those who bear that banner-which if it waves in triumph, waves also over a people whose pros perity well nigh realise the poet's dream of the golden agen—is not yet fulfilled. From the wreck of the Whig party, discomfitted and scattered like dust before the wind in 1852, have already arisen two powerful political organizations, which are marching to an assault on the Constitution, through avenues hitherto held sa cred by all. From the ruins of that gallant par-ty, they have crept forth, like serpents crawling from amid the ruins of some magnificent templ They have presented their platform of principle sen their candidates, and are now openly straining every nerve for victory. These organ zations are know in common parlance, as the KNOW NOTHINGS and BLACK REPUBLICANS, or freesoilers. I retain the popular denomination

the first, because of the universal conviction its appropriateness, and because, it is in itself, an interesting memorial of the systematic falsehood taught by the ritual of the order, which render-ed "I know nothing," the stereotyped response to every question addressed to its members, touching either their membership, or the principles and purposes of the association. I unhesitatingly reject the talismanic appellation "Amercan." which they have given to themselves, in baptism at their own fout, because this performance of the rite has not because this performance. mance of the rite, has not been sanctioned by cause in view of the creed and practices of th order as seen through good Democratic specia-cles, the application of such a term to it, cannot but be regarded as not merely unmeaning, but as an absolute mockery. It has probably been assumed from a figure of speech wall known to rhetorician, by which, for example, in some lan guages, the street of a city is called a place of dence, because it is really one of noise latin tongue, a dense grove is lucus, i. e. a place of light, from non lucendo, or because in fact there is no light there at all. It is from a like capicious, if not cruel sport with language, that the word "American, is thrust upon us as the tortured exponent of what, we verify believe to be, in all its impulses and purposes, wholly and irretrievably anti-American. ware then siezed Granger around the neck, and, holding down his head, struck two blows, drawing blood under the eye and under the ear; they were then separated by Col. Chester, of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

of the other self-sacrificing strangers, who forsaking the splendors of rank and fortune came then in the ascendant, and as a consequence, this generous and wise measure was repealed, and a naturalization of aliens. The federalists in their anger did not stop here, but authorized the President to order out of the country, any foreigners ne might consider dangerous to the public safety, and in default of compliance with such such or-der, they were liable, at the option of the three years, or to be seized and forcibly transbeyond the limits of the Mnited States. Thus, in shameless contempt of the spirit of our nstitutions, the Executive was invested with that absolute and arbitrary authority over the persons of strangers, which is exercised only by the worst of despots. The same party, with entire consistency, followed up this blow of personal edom, by passing the memorable "sedition law." whereby fine and imprisonment were visi ted upon all, who dared write and publish facts or opinions tending to render the President or Con-gress unpopular! Upon the return of the Detle of human liberty, Thomas Jefferson-thes nfamous and oppressive enactments were at nce swept from the statute book and the resi

Here we have a complete explanation that savage warfare upon which we are constrained to look with so much disgust and liation. Here is the fountain whence all these bitter waters have bubbled up. The naturalized foreigners had voted, almost en asse, the democratic ticket, for General Pierce; had they supported General Scott, that same 'flove of the brogue' (you renember how intense it was,) which dis d that justly famous chieftain and his Whig friends, during the canvass, would undonbtedly have continued to this day. It is now assumed. as with the enthusiasm inspired by a new revelation, that five years will not suffice to enable reigners to prepare themselves for the duties of self government under our republican system, and that their probation should be extended to fourteen, or as maintained by many of the more 'intensified'' saints of the Know-Nothing church twenty-one years. This position would not be without plausibility, were our system of gov ernment at all abstruse or complicated in its char acter. But it is our boast-and I think a just one—that of all systems it is the simplest most easy of comprehension— so much so that it may be truly said, "a fool cannot err therein." five years are sufficient to complete the edu cation of a ripe scholar, enriching his mind with the treasures of the arts and sciences-alike the ena of earth and with the sublimest fruits which the telescope has gathered among the stars, -should they not be sufficient to enable foreigners to read and study the federal consti ution, and the constitutions of the States in which they may chance to reside, and to comrehend the obligations which these instruments pose upon them? It has ever been the teachng of the hereditary oppressors of mankind, too wonderful for the people, who should content themselves with hewing the wood which their task-masters burn, and with drawing the water which those task-masters, drink. On the 4th day of July, 1776, the patent to kings and rinces, to govern the world by divine right, exred, and since then, in various parts of the globe, the toiling masses have been simplifying lowering the ancient pretensions of kingcraft, by governing themselves. The results o nese experiments has been in the highest degree creditable to the popular intelligence, demonstrating the capacity of the many, without any previous elaborate training, to rule with the modion and wisdom, so long claimed as a moooly for the few. But in addition to the dant opportunities which a residence of five rears among and continual association with enlightened freemen, must afford to foreigness for acquainting themselves with our institutions, they have ever before them that far better teacher than precept, example—even the example of try, than they would be, by stripping him of his that noble band of native-born Americans, who estate, and thristing him into the common jail. have so kindly constituted themselves an elite corps of fuglemen, from whose movements all world may now learn the duties of the citizen and of the patriot! What advancement in the science of self-government, must they, in this way, have made during the memorable election which took place at 1200 Referred in gust last? As their countrymen referred in their gore around then, with what bitter hu-miliation, and yet with what instruction, must they have read in the light of their burning dwellings, at once their own benighted and brualized state, and the high and hojy claim of Americans to rule America. So much for the theory: What are the facts in its support? As the existing law has been in peration, with a trifling exception, since the administration of Gen. Washington, we have a sight to demand what are the evidences given by foreigners naturalized under it, of their ignorance of our government, and of their inca pacity to share in its management? Have they been insubordinate, and endeavoring to thrus agide the government, have they taken the law into their own hands. The native Americans have done this ten times, where the foreigners have done it once.* The only systematic REBELLION, of which the history of the republic gives an account was organized and prosecuted by men born and reared upon American soil.— Have they been riotous and given to habitual violations of the public peace? Let New Orleans, Louisville and other cities, in which they have been pursued and immolated like wild beasts, cuswer the question. True they supported Thomas Jefferson for the resigence, and wrote and spoke and voted against John Adams, which is the first proof of their benighted condition that meets the Know-Nothing readers of history. The crowning teachers history. The crowning testimony however, is that after the most diligent examination of Whig principles and Whig practices, they have been unable either to admire or approve that peculiar gystem of politics and hence have cast in their lot with the Pernocrats. But if this be an evidence of their stupidity, and inability to comprehend our republican system, are not you Democrats in the same category?—Nay," is not your position infinitely more deplorable, and

ed affinity between this organization and the the ballot-box and vote the Democratic ticket. | yet this did not prevent Charles Carroll of Car-

> Of all the rights, of all the possessions, which are the objects of human passion or the subjects rustle of which in the breeze, proclaims in acf human strife, there is none to which man clings with such unyielding tenacity as the right to worship the Creator according to the dictates of his own conscience. All things else he may be tempted to surrender-of all things else, the ruffian hand of violence may despoil him; you may confiscate his estate; you may load him with chains and cast him into dungeons; you may break his frail body on the rack or burn it at the stake; you may make him a cowering slave resence of that being whose name is Love, his irit is free. It is the sublime proof, at once of ne immortality, and responsibility of the human ul, that its freedom is above and beyond the reach of the tyrannies of earth. As a consequence of the unspeakable preciousness of the rights of conscience, whenever and wherever they have been invaded, that invasion has been resistd with an obstinacy and desperation proporioned to the magnitude of the interests at stake society has been convulsed and the career of the persecutor has become that of the pale horse and his rider, as seen in the apocalyptic vision. Although this Upas tree of intolerance has been out recently planted in our midst, it has already ven us a foretaste of those poisonous fruits which in the vigor of its age, it will certainly bear. That foretaste is found in the heart burn ings, the feuds and bickerings, which pervade families, neighborhoods and churches; it is found in the election riots and carnage of New Orleans; but especially has it been seen in the conflagra-tions and bloodshed which marked the footsteps of the Louisville mob in August last. Through out the horrors of that day, the invasion and ourning of the stores and dwellings of the foreign Catholic population, were as indiscriminate as he massacre of their helpless inmates, was cow ardly and atrocious. If to-night you could walk the street of that doomed city, your spirits' ear might even now catch the yell of that demoniac and, as your eye in sadness met the blackened and crumbling walls of what were once peaceful human nabitations. Let Protestants, who have written so many

Let them not flatter hemselves that their garments are the less defiled. because they lead not their Catholic neighbors to the stake. In the presence of that constitu on, the shield of whose protection is alike over all, they have no more right to take from them their political privileges than they have to take from them their lives. Besides, the sensibilities of a freeman are more deeply wounded, and his BAZIN'S (Rousell's) pride more cruelly humiled, by degrading him HARRISON'S pride more cruelly humbled, by degrading him as lacking in patriotism and fidelity to his coun-Movements like this, have generally advanced with a fearful impetus, and if this is not arrested, I say to those ministers, elders and class leaders, who have spent their sabbaths in preaching lov and charity to all, but have devoted the mid night hours of the week, to conspiracies against the constitutional rights of their fellow-mer, to all such, I would say, in frankness and kindness too, that upon that troad and downward road on which you have entered, there will yet be sprinkled more blood than the blood of Catholics and foreigners. When you shall have acheived more triumph, and the might of your chivalry shall have put the weak and the defencess completely under your feet, there will yet remain to you a still more bitter task! Would you know what that task is? I lay my ear to he lips of the past, and it answers for me—the ask of devouring one another! I do but echo the essons of history when I assert, that if prescripion for religion's sake were once established as he rule of action for the masses, the stronger rotestant sects would devour the weaker, with ne same avidity with which a shark swallows e minnows that cross his rathway in the deep. How long, think you, Unitarianism, Universalism, and all the other minor isms and so called heresics which prevail in the Protestant world, would be endured under such a rule? The Bapists were pursued with the hot vengeance of persecution in staid New England; imprisonment, fines and mutilations were visited upon the unoffending Quakers of Pennsylvania. The

It is exposed to the full sweep of the waters and the southern breezes; which have made it a desirable retreat in the summer months. This year the island is reported to have been well patronized, and the anxiety is therefore intense to learn who were exposed to the storm, and what losses we have to deplore. The ordinary access by the city is via the Opelousas Rail-road, to Bayou Bouf, and thence by steamboat Star. THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESS-EXTRA SESSION. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. SENATE. -The President's message was receive ed and read as follows: Fellow-citizens of the Senate and

House of Representatives; In consequence of a failure of Congress at its sesion to make provision for the support of the army, it becomes imperatively incumbent on me to exercise the power which the canstitution confers on the executive on this extraordinary occa sion and promptly to convene the two houses in order to afford them an opportunity to reconsid-er a subject of such vital interest to the peace and welfare of the Union. The exception partial authority vested by law in the Secretary of War to contract for a supply of clothing and subsistence of the army, which is wholly made by Congress. The omission of Cohgress to act in this respect before the termination of the fiscal year had already caused embarrassments which were overcome only in the expectation of appropriations before the close of the present month. If the requisite funds be not speedily provided the executive will no longer be able to furnish for transportation the equipments and munitions which are essential to the effectiveness of a military force.

with no provision for the pay of the troops, the contracts of enlistment would be broken and the army must be in effect disbanded, the consequences of which would be so disastrous as to mand all possible efforts to avert the calamity. It is not merely that the officers and enlisted men of the army are to be thus deprived of their pay emoluments to which they are entitled by inding laws, but that the construction of arms at the public armeries, the repairs and construction of ordinance at the arsenals, and the manufacture of military clothing and camp equipage must be discontinued and the persons, connected with this branch of the public service, thus be deprived suddenly of employment essential to their subsistence; nor is it merely the waste consequent upon the forced abandonment of the sea board fortifications, and of the interior military ports and other establishments, and the enormous expense of recruiting, and recognizing the army, and again distributing it over the vast regions which it now occupies

These are evils which it is true may be repaired hereafter by taxes imposed on the country, but other evils are involved which no expenditures however lavish, could remedy in comparison with which local and personal injuries or interests sink into insignificance. A great part of the army is situated on the remote frontier. (Here the Union Line at Cleveland refused to recieve any more of the reports. The National is still down.) ARRIVAL OF THE CANADA.

Sr. Louis, Aug. 21. The Leavenworth City (Kansas) Journal of the 7th, contains lengthy accounts of another outbreak in Kansas. On the 17th Brown, at the head of 300 free State men, attacked and drove into Missouri a colony of Georgians. New Ossawatomie, a colony, were disarmed, their houses on the 12th Franklin was attacked by 260 men from Lawrence, who, after dislodging 14 pro-slavery men by setting fire to the house they went in, robbed the Postoffice of $70, took 30

United States muskets and one piece of artillery. From Mr. Buckley they took $425 worth of ciothing, from Mr. Barnes a large lot of clothing, from Mr. Crane between $900 and $1,200 dol-lars in accounts and notes and $125 in clothing, and from Judge Fane a valuable horse.

On the 15th Treadwell's party were on foot, and it is feared most of them have fallen. Tread well sent to Gov. Shannon for aid, who called on the U. S. troops but they refused to act. The anti-slavery men are driving all the pro-slavery men out of Douglass county, and de-
